

1. Introduction

1.1 We are committed to protecting the privacy of visitors to our site and users of our services.

1.2 These rules apply wherever we are the controllers of the personal data of visitors to our websites and users of our services, in other words, where we determine the purpose and significance of the processing of this personal data.

2. How we use personal data

2.1 In this section 2, we have established:

- (a) the general categories of personal data we process;
- (b) the source and category of data, in the case of data that we did not receive directly from you;
- (c) the purpose for which we process personal data;
- (d) the legal basis for their processing.

2.2 We may process data on the use of our websites and services (usage data). Usage data may include your IP address, geographical location, web browser and version, operating system, reference source, length of visit, page views and site navigation paths, as well as information on the timing, frequency and pattern of use of our service. The source of usage data is Google Analytics. This usage data may be processed for the purpose of analyzing the use of the website and services. The legal basis for this processing is consent and our legitimate interests, i. j. monitoring and improving our websites and services.

2.3 We may process information that you publish on our website or through data that you use to use our services. The published data may be processed for the purpose of their publication and management of our websites and services. The legal basis for this processing is consent.

2.4 We may process the information contained in any questionnaire (query data) with respect to data relating to goods and / or services. The legal basis for this processing is consent.

2.5 We may process the information you provide to us in order to receive our e-mail offers and / or newsletter (notification data). The notification data may be processed to send appropriate alerts and / or a newsletter. The legal basis for this processing is consent.

2.6 We may process information (contact details) contained in or related to any communication in which you send us contact details. Correspondence data may include communication content and communication-related metadata. Our website will generate metadata related to communication through the contact forms of the website. Correspondence data may be processed for the purpose of communicating with you and keeping records. The legal basis for this processing is our legitimate interests, namely the proper administration of our website and business and communication with users and / or the performance of the contract between you and us and / or the steps leading to the conclusion of the contract.

2.7 We may process any of your personal data specified in these rules if necessary to create, assert or defend legal claims, whether in court proceedings or in administrative or extrajudicial proceedings. The legal basis for this processing is our legitimate interests, namely the protection and enforcement of our legal rights, your legal rights and the legal rights of others.

2.8 In addition to the specific purposes for which we may process your personal data set out in this Section 2, we may also process any of your personal data if such processing is necessary to fulfill a legal obligation to which we are subject or to protect our vital or other natural person's interests.

3. Providing your personal information to others

3.1 In addition to the specific disclosures of personal information set forth in this Section 3, we may disclose your personal information if such disclosure is necessary to fulfill a legal obligation to which we are subject or to protect your vital interests or the vital interests of another individual. We may also disclose your personal information if such disclosure is necessary to establish, assert or defend legal claims, whether in court proceedings or in administrative or extrajudicial proceedings.

4. International transfers of your personal data

4.1 You acknowledge that the personal information you submit for publication through our websites or services may be accessible via the Internet worldwide. We cannot prevent the use (or misuse) of such personal data by others.

5. Storage and deletion of personal data

5.1 This Section 5 sets out our data retention policies and procedures, which are designed to help ensure compliance with our legal obligations regarding the retention and deletion of personal data.

5.2 Personal data that we process for any purpose or purposes may not be stored longer than necessary for that purpose or purposes.

5.3 We will store personal data as follows:

(a) usage data, disclosure data, inquiry data, notification data and correspondence data shall be kept for a maximum of 10 years.

5.4 Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Section 5, we may retain your personal information if such retention is necessary to fulfill a legal obligation to which we are subject or to protect your vital interests or the vital interests of another individual.

6. Changes

6.1 We may update these rules from time to time by posting a new version on our website.

6.2 You should check this page from time to time to be happy with any changes to this policy.

6.3 We may notify you by e-mail of changes to these rules.

7. Your rights

7.1 In this section 7, we have summarized the rights you have under data protection law. Some rights are complex and not all details have been included in our summaries. Therefore, you should read the applicable laws and regulatory guidelines for a full explanation of these rights.

7.2 Your fundamental rights under the Data Protection Act are:

- (a) the right of access;
- (b) the right of rectification;
- (c) the right of erasure;
- (d) the right to restrict processing;
- (e) the right to object to the processing;
- (f) the right to transmit data;
- (g) the right to complain to the supervisory authority; and
- (h) the right to withdraw consent.

7.3 You have the right to confirm whether we can process your personal data and where we access it together with other information. This additional information shall include details of the purposes of the processing, the categories of personal data concerned and the recipients of the personal data. The granting of the rights and freedoms of others is not affected, we will provide you with a copy of your personal data. The first copy will be provided free of charge, but additional copies may be subject to a reasonable fee.

7.4 You have the right to correct any inaccurate personal data and with regard to the purposes of processing, if you have provided us with inaccurate or incorrect data.

7.5 Under certain circumstances, you have the right to delete your personal data without undue delay. These circumstances include: personal data are no longer needed for the purpose for which they were collected or otherwise processed; you withdraw consent to processing on the basis of consent; you have objections to processing in accordance with certain rules of the applicable data protection law; processing is intended for direct marketing purposes; and personal data have been processed illegally. However, there are exceptions to the right to delete. General exceptions apply where processing is required: for the exercise of the right to freedom of expression and information; compliance with legal obligations; or for the creation, exercise or defense of legal claims.

7.6 In certain circumstances, you have the right to restrict the processing of your personal data. These circumstances are: you question the accuracy of personal data; processing is illegal, but you exclude deletion; we no longer need personal data for the purposes of our processing, but you do request personal data to establish, assert or defend legal claims; and you objected to the processing, pending verification of this objection. If processing on this basis is restricted, we may continue to store your personal information. However, we will process them differently: with your consent; for the creation, exercise or defense of legal claims; to protect the rights of another natural or legal person; or for reasons of overriding public interest.

7.7 You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data due to your specific situation, but only to the extent that the legal basis allows. Processing is necessary for: the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the performance of any official body entrusted to us; or for the purposes of legitimate interests that we pursue on our behalf or with a third party. If you make such an objection and we cannot demonstrate compelling legitimate reasons for the processing that exceed your interests, rights and freedoms, or the processing is for the creation, exercise or defense of legal claims, we will stop processing personal information.

7.8 You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data for direct marketing purposes (including profiling). If you make such an objection, we will stop processing your personal data for this purpose.

7.9 You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data for scientific or historical research purposes or for statistical purposes on grounds relating to your specific situation, unless the processing is necessary for tasks performed in the public interest.

7.10 The legal basis for the processing of your personal data is:

- (a) consent; or
- (b) if the processing is necessary for the performance of a contract to which you are a party or for the performance of steps at your request prior to the conclusion of the contract,

(c) and such processing is carried out by automated means, you have the right to receive your personal data in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format. However, this right shall not apply if it would adversely affect the rights and freedoms of others.

7.11 If you believe that our processing of your personal data violates data protection laws, you have the legal right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority responsible for data protection. You can do so in the EU Member State of your habitual residence, place of work or alleged infringement.

7.12 To the extent that the legal basis for the processing of your personal data is agreed, you have the right to withdraw this consent at any time.

7.13 You may exercise any of your rights in relation to your personal data by written notice.
